

Concert Tour Prague for Brass bands / Czech Republic

One of the famous composers of Czech Brass Music is Jaromir Vejvoda (1902-1988), whose first composition Škoda lásky (Rosamunde/Beer Barrel Polka) presents the world wide success of Bohemian Brass music.

Since several generations, the family Vejvoda lives in Zbraslav, a small village south of Prague. All brothers of his father have been musicians and Jaromir Vejvoda took on the music band of his father in 1926. His first composition for this band in 1927 has been the „Modřanská polka“, which has been completed with text by Vašek Zeman in 1934 and was named now „Škoda lásky“. In 1938 this polka got as „Rosamunde“ a Golden Record for one million sold records. One year later the music publisher Shapiro Bernstein published this song as „Beer Barrel Polka“ at the US-market, where the Andrew Sisters, Glenn Miller and Benny Goodman integrated this song in their repertoire. Further compositions are i.e. „Farewell-Polka“, the „Optimist-Polka“, „Blue Eyes“, „Only Who Loves The Home“, „Summer Night In Prague“, „Darling, I Saw You Dancing“, „Blackbird-Polka“ und „In Your Arms“.

The musical heir of Jaromir Vejvoda is managed since his death by his three sons Jaromir, Ján and Josef. His youngest son Josef Vejvoda is going on with the musical family tradition: As a child he started to play in his father’s band, later on he has been a successful musician in Jazz. After his father’s death he became bandmaster of the Vejvoda-Band and the Salon Orchestra Josef Vejvoda. In 1995 he composed his first polka and later on his first waltz.

Josef Vejvoda is managing these workshops personally. Who else can know better the original interpretation of his father’s compositions? After a previous selection of one composition of Jarmir Vejvoda, this composition will be rehearsed by Josef Vejvoda together with your band on the basis of the original arrangement. This is the way to learn how to play a perfect Bohemian Polka. The workshop will be in a concert hall in Prague. Chairs are available; music stands and instruments must be brought along by the band.
